Marabella
Old World Pizza

History Begins in Italy, in the Region of Sicily

In the 1940's, Salvatore Amato, our grandfather, was working in the town's local bakery, making freshly baked breads, all sorts of pizza & specializing in "sfingione". The "sfingione" is a Sicilian Pizza made with anchovies, cascaval cheese, bread crumbs & scallions.

In 1969, my grandfather Salvatore & my father Nino opened their own bakery in Carini, Italy. Although business was good, by 1973 the Italian economy was in a big depression. Opportunity knocked when he was offered a work contract in New York City. My father Nino left the bakery in the hands of my Grandfather Salvatore & immigrated to America hoping that his gift as an Artisan baker would open new doors for him. He was hired at the famous landmark deli in Little Italy, known as "Italian Food Center". It is still located on the corner of Grand Street & Mulberry Street. It is famous for its bread, focaccia & pizza. Nino baked all day long, so all the sandwiches were made with hot fresh bread. He baked bread & pizza for many famous clients like Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, Tony Bennett & Ronald Reagan.

Although Nino loved working at the Italian Food Center, he knew he had to focus on the future of his family. In 1983, Nino decided to venture out & opened his first little pizza shop in Brooklyn. As the kids grew, he opened a second Marabella Pizza Shop in NY. Nino had a plan, he taught his family everything he knew about food & business. Later when his sons Piero, Salvatore & Massimo were grown up & had acquired all the experience from their father, he opened another location in Park Slope, Brooklyn.

In 2006, Massimo & Salvatore opened "Marabella Italian Restaurant" in Washington, North Carolina. Marabella Restaurant has acquired over 75 years of Italian family tradition in baking & culinary from three generations. Our Italian dishes are made from century old recipes handed down from our family throughout the years.

In 2009, Massimo & Salvatore opened "Marabella Old World Pizza" in Greenville, North Carolina. Marabella Old World Pizza focuses on making traditional pizza the way it is made in Italy & real New York-Style Pizza. We also make Panini & Panzerotti. All of our food is prepared daily. We make fresh dough, sauces, mozzarella cheese, pasta & our delicious meatballs on the premises in all of our locations.

All of our Marabella stores were opened by Nino Passalacqua, the founder of Marabella & all the restaurants are run by family members. The Washington & Greenville locations are run by Salvatore & Massimo. The Queens, New York location is run by Piero & Giuseppe. Nino travels constantly to all the locations to make sure everything is run "Nino's Way"...With Quality Food, Personality & Love.
